This trailblazing troubadour cemented her versatility as an entertainer while serving as an ambassador of American culture and history for over two decades. Myriad experiences range from ranch hand and wrangler to luthier and leatherworker, and her intriguing story has been chronicled in books, movies, publications and broadcasts nationwide. Charismatic performances reflect her natural stage presence, subtle humor and enduring creativity, while compelling lyrics, rich vocals, homemade banjo and guitar comprise her timeless Cowbilly sound. “V” hosts workshops on Homespun Instruments, women’s and western history, Amelia Earhart and her 2103 documentary, “The Modern Day Homesteader.” Nothing Fancy But Guaranteed Authentic!!
